

Author Agreement

Translation of standard version adopted on 11 November 2014

This agreement is made between non-profit association Lambda Nordica (Swedish official registration no. 802439-5306, hereinafter called "the Association") and a person or group of persons (hereinafter called "the Author") submitting a manuscript for publication to the Association.

The Agreement is concluded when the Author submits a manuscript for publication to the Association and the Association notifies the Author its decision to publish a version of the manuscript.

The Author certifies:

- that the Author is entitled to assign the rights to the work without restriction; and
- that the manuscript is not being considered for publication elsewhere, e.g., in a different journal.

The Association shall have an exclusive right to publish, reproduce or distribute the manuscript, in original or edited form, by any means for making it available for inspection or reading, such as printing, reprinting, photocopying, online publication or other electronic means. The Association shall furthermore have a non-exclusive right to distribute the manuscript via online information products maintained by third parties (including EBSCO Publishing Inc., Ipswich, Massachusetts, USA), in order to increase the manuscript's discoverability.

This notwithstanding, the Author shall have the right to make the manuscript public at lectures, seminars, research conferences or as presentation material made available in connection with these. The manuscript may, after its publication, be included in an open document repository at an educational institution, research institute or university with which the Author is affiliated.

The Association:

- shall publish the manuscript within eighteen (18) months from the date of the decision to publish the manuscript;
- shall mention the Author at every publication of the manuscript;
- shall, for each printed edition of the manuscript:
  - provide the Author with one (1) copy without charge; and
  - offer the Author further copies, subject to availability, at discounted price ("F-pris") which is at least 30 % less than the current single-issue price.

The Association's exclusive right to publish printed editions of the manuscript shall cease after the expiry of eight (8) years from the first publication. Without prejudice to this, the Association shall retain the right to publish the manuscript in electronic form.

In contentious proceedings relating to this agreement, the Swedish-language version shall prevail over translations.
